PRESENTATION OF GAVEL

The President presented an honorary gavel to Tim Mateer in recognition of his service in the Lieutenant Governor's Reception Room.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

On motion of Senator Nelson and by unanimous consent, the remarks by Senators Eckhardt, Campbell, Hughes, Bettencourt, Kolkhorst, Lucio, and the President regarding SR 87 were ordered reduced to writing and printed in the Senate Journal as follows:

Senator Eckhardt: Whereas, after 18 years of outstanding service, Tim Mateer is leaving his post in the Lieutenant Governor's Reception Room; currently the lead server, no bit part here, for Lieutenant Governor Dan Patrick, Tim has been serving Lieutenant Governors and their guests, Members of the Senate, and countless friends of the Legislature since 2003, and he has done so with exceptional dedication and finesse. And whereas noted for his inimitable style and engaging personality, Tim is the reception room's popular and welcoming host; gregarious and knowledgeable on a wide range of subjects, Tim is an affable and avid conversationalist, and legislators and Capitol guests often visit the room to enjoy his camaraderie and the convivial ambience; energetic and entertaining, Tim has also been a much-sought-after host and server for a number of the stately room's events, and parties. And whereas a colorful character with multiple talents and interests, Tim is truly a gifted actor, and I mean that, really, truly a gifted actor, who has performed on Broadway, a history and museum buff, and an ardent storyteller, and he has delighted many an eager listener in the reception room with his personal stories and his accounts of the Capitol's history and the building's artwork and artifacts. And whereas Tim Mateer is revered for his loyal and skillful Senate service and beloved by all for his warmth and the joy he brings to others; he is truly a cherished employee, and his presence in the Lieutenant Governor's Reception Room will be greatly missed. Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Senate of the State of Texas, 87th Legislature, hereby express sincerest appreciation to Tim Mateer for his many years of invaluable service and extend to him best wishes for the future, in all of his endeavors; and be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be prepared in honor of Tim Mateer.

President: Senator Campbell, you're recognized.

Senator Eckhardt: May I say a couple of words right quick about Tim, is that alright?

President: Oh, yes. I, I thought you were, sure.

Senator Eckhardt: Oh, no, no, no, no. I, I appreciate that. Tim and I go way back. I first met Tim when he was doing a production called The Council of Love. And I so admired his talent as an actor. He really is a phenomenal actor. He went on to do many productions including be in Greater Tuna where he did a turn on Broadway, something I was never able to accomplish in my career. He is a tremendously talented individual, and we were really, really lucky to have him in this capacity. And when I first came to an empty Chamber to be sworn in, it was Tim who greeted me. He was wearing a mask and he said, Hey, Senator. I said, Oh my God, it's Tim Mateer. We reminisced about all kinds of things that I won't tell you about, and luckily the statute of limitations is run. But I was so grateful to see you here, Tim. And I know I'll miss you and I hardly got to see you in this capacity, but I know Sara will be very, very happy that you'll be around a lot more. Thank you.

President: Thank you, Senator. And he's in one of the opening scenes of The Alamo, the latest version. Senator Campbell.

Senator Campbell: Yes, thank you, Mr. President and Members. Tim, I didn't know you were retiring. You will be so missed. From your moustache, the acting that you do there, I remember he taught me about, showed me about the needlepoint butterflies on the chairs. Remember that? He knows the room, he knows history, you know, you were just such a warm body and welcomed all of us, and thank you. I'm sorry to see you go but God's got the next step for you, and we sure enjoyed having you. Thank you, Tim. Thank you, Members and thank you, Mr. President.

President: Thank you, Senator Campbell. Senator Hughes.

Senator Hughes: Thank you, Mr. President, Members. And it's been said so well, and my goodness, someone who generally cares about people, genuinely you can tell, wonderful person to be around, and also a talented ax thrower, I would add. And I, I just move to add all Members' names to the resolution.

President: Thank you, Senator Hughes. Any objection to that motion? We will do that. Senator Bettencourt.

Senator Bettencourt: Thank you, Mr. President. Tim, you just whipped up a ham and cheese sandwich for me in about 2.2 minutes, right before this, and you didn't even spill the beans. Now, that is a man with discretion and, Mr. President, I want to say that this is the conversationalist worthy of a talk radio show, okay. On history alone he is, he is awesome. And we're going to miss you, Tim, because you have been, you know, maitre d', historian, you know, interested conversationalist, friend, actually. And with that friendship we're going to miss, but I think that Senator Eckhardt said it the best. I guess your better half is going to enjoy the time off so we wish you Godspeed. And thank you for your service because it's made a difference at least to this Member of the most deliberative body in the United States. Thank you, Tim.

President: Senator Bettencourt, thank you. Senator Kolkhorst, you're recognized.

Senator Kolkhorst: Thank you, Mr. President. As a former Chairman of Administration, you get to know some of the staffers on a different level. I remember saying to Tim, Tim, we have too many Styrofoam cups; we're away from our home; I think we need real glasses. That's a great idea, Senator. And, of course, we had those real glasses the next morning. And I will just say that because so many of us are away from our homes and our families we depend on and seeing those smiling faces that help us with our everyday needs, but they do it in such a special way. Like when you say, Senator, I made some honeysuckle syrup this weekend. I go, you did? It's wonderful in tea. Tim, can I have some? You bet. Or, Tim, I saw the Lieutenant Governor drinking a Fresca, I haven't had one in 25 years. It's secretly stashed somewhere, Members, and so you have to go through Tim to get the Lieutenant Governor's Fresca, sorry Mr. President. I drink your Fresca, because I can't find it anywhere.

President: So, now I know who's been drinking my Fresca, thank you.

Senator Kolkhorst: There's way too many confessions going on here, Senator. And, and, and then, you know, he barely tells you that he's an actor but to learn that he has been on Broadway. And then, on just an obscure conversation you learn that he can throw axes and goes to ax throwing contests, and with great description tells you what he's doing wrong. And it's so, I'm excited. This country girl from Brenham has not thrown an ax, but I want to. And so, long words to say this, my goodness, Tim, thank you. When I heard the Senator's resolution, resolution number 87, my heart skipped a beat because I said it couldn't be our Tim, could it be? We will miss you so much. We will miss all of those great stories, all of the care, all of the love that you've given us. So, God bless you in your retirement. I know that you will not sit idle. And if you could find some honeysuckle and bring by the honeysuckle syrup sometime, simple syrup, I'd appreciate it very much. Thank you. Thank you, Mr. President.

President: Thank you, Senator. Senator Lucio.

Senator Lucio: Thank you, Mr. President. I rise to join my colleagues, Tim, to congratulate you in your retirement. From the moment that I met you, way back, I, I told myself what a humble, humble servant. God tells us to be good neighbors and you're the ultimate good neighbor, right next to us. You never have changed over the years, you've always been the same person, and for that, every time I see you, I, I say, I want to be like him. I really mean that. And I think all of us should try to imitate and emulate the way you are because you speak from the heart, you act from your heart, and you live with your heart each day of your life. Thank you so much. Thank you, Mr. President.

President: Thank you, Senator. And Tim, of course, I also didn't know you were going to retire until several weeks ago, and you will be greatly missed by me personally. Members, I didn't know there was someone in the back that helped the Lieutenant Governor, and you've made my ability to do my job so much easier and you always have a smile on your face. I can always turn guests to you to tell them great stories, and you are just, you are a friend, and we're, you're going to be greatly missed. I will tell you, Members, he's also a great storyteller and great with ghost stories. And one short story is his seeing an apparition in the back hall. And he didn't know who it was, and one day because they were doing some work he had to bring in the food through the lift over there, and he saw the painting of the apparition he saw, which is right outside that door, who was the wife of a former Lieutenant Governor back in the 1940s. And so, I thought that maybe the apparition was wanting to come back to the back hall, the Lieutenant Governor's office. So, I made the decision to move that painting, to which the rest of the kitchen staff said, oh no, oh no. Because lots of things they say go bump in the night and keys move and, and maybe we just don't want any more of those things to happen. So, I don't know that I believe in ghosts, but I believe in Tim. And so, Tim, normally we would present this to you on the floor and we'll have you down to the office tomorrow or the next day and we'll do a photograph. But I'm presenting you with this gavel—and, Members, it reads, Tim the Storyteller Mateer—for your dedicated and professional service to the Lieutenant Governor's office and the State of Texas. Tim, you are a friend, you're welcome any time and God bless you. Thank you. Members, Senator Eckhardt would you like to close?

Senator Eckhardt: Mr. President, I move adoption of SR 87 and the repatriation of this dish to the kitchen which I promised you, Tim, I would bring back.

President: And, Members, would someone like to make a motion to put this in the Journal so he has this for all time? Senator Nelson. Any objection, hearing none. The motion is adopted and the resolution is adopted. Tim, thank you.
